*On the heights of the Alleghenies
Stands a high school fair.
There, among great trees abiding
Pine scent in the air—
There, all nature in its glory
In summer green, in winter hoary—
Tells the seasons' wondrous story;
Hail to old Kane High.*

Foreword

As in the medieval period and the time of the Crusades, we are still crusading for an ideal of education. The administration and faculty have pledged themselves to mankind as the men of old gave homage to their lords. Today we have a brighter outlook on education. We believe in teaching cultural courses as well as the practical arts which made up a major portion of education in medieval times. By passing on the flaming sword of education, a world without conflict can be brought about.

The Kane Area Joint School Board, organized only two years, has proven that consolidation of schools can be a smoothly run, efficient operation. The jointure is divided into six districts consisting of Kane Borough, Mt. Jewett Borough, Hamilton Township, Highland Township, Sergeant Township and Wetmore Township. Each district has its own council, whose job it is to take care of matters such as transportation and up-keep of buildings in their own district, and to discuss problems to be brought before the joint board. All district boards meet the first Monday of each month.

The combined boards are too large to be effective, so the actual management of the jointure is directed by a board of fifteen members, with one or more representatives from each district. The officers of the board are Robert K. Fees, president; Ralph H. DeCamp, secretary; and Gustav Olson, treasurer. The board consists of Mr. Fees, Harold Johnson, Tavy Summersgill, Clarence Cornes and Dr. Charles Cleland, Kane; Clyde Gilfert and C. Evert Johnson, Hamilton Township; Evan E. Christy and William Cochran, Highland Township; Walter H. Swanson and Harlan Danielson, Mt. Jewett; Noah H. Holmes, Sergeant Township; and Alan Vantine, Ansel Nelson and Francis A. Gausman, Wetmore Township.

In memory of Joseph M. Harre, board president who died last July, the Board unanimously decided to give an award, the Joseph M. Harre Award, to the senior who contributed most in community service. The fund is to be maintained by voluntary contributions, with the first senior getting one-tenth of the fund, the next year one-ninth, etc. for ten years. By that time the last Harre child will be graduated from school, and the last senior will receive all the remaining money.

In addition to its normal business, the board this year elected Paul Miller to succeed Glennis Rickert as superintendent of schools and chose Robert A. Lowry to replace Mr. Miller as principal. Also, the board learned many of the headaches involved in planning to build a new unit as plans for a junior high school were drawn up and approved by the state. Actual building will probably get underway as soon as a proper site is chosen and approved.

In modern times our ideas of royalty come not from experience and observation but from our reading and arts. From the romantic sources of the past, much of our picture is idealized and made to appear quite distinguished and glamorous. Perhaps it is good that we do put forth the best in our characterizations.

Royalty was a term to include not only the king and his family but rather the whole ruling class. At best, royalty not only ruled but served with dedication all their subjects and all men. Today mankind needs the direction of keen minds more than any time in history. We, in our daily lives, might well reaffirm the oath of the knights of the table round: "Live pure, speak true, right wrong, follow the king."

Paul R. Miller

The people of the Middle Ages lived in a world of hope and confusion much the same as we do today. And yet, with courage and determination they succeeded in bringing about many advancements which have contributed to our way of life.

The responsibility for making further improvements for this generation and future generations is yours. Many times you will need to be courageous in meeting the challenges of the day. However, as you succeed, do not forget to be humble.

We sincerely hope that we have played more than a small part in preparing you for your chosen field of endeavor.

Classes

The Feudal System in the Middle Ages divided the people quite severely to a specific social class according to birth. Today in our school system we have specific classes but they are determined by age and ability. We have discovered that that ancient system does not hold true to form in modern life.

Seniors

Pete, Lou, Amanda, and Terry lead the class through their final year together.

To raise money for their trip to Washington the seniors started in their junior year. Their project was a class play, "And Never Been Kissed." The seniors will never forget Gilmore's eerie violin solo and Mavy's pantomime to "Hello, Bluebird." Persian love drops and mild baths also complicated the plot.

Spring found the class feverishly preparing for the prom using "An Evening in Paris" as the theme. For weeks everyone dripped bottles with candles and stretched crepe paper to produce a Parisian setting.

"Gee, it doesn't seem possible that I'm really a Senior!" "Do you feel very grown up?" These were only a couple comments by excited Seniors as they began school last September. The Seniors found that their last year didn't make them feel adult over-night as many had expected; neither was the year all fun and no work.

The first big activity was the magazine drive in the fall. The class members worked diligently until they had sold $5,500 worth of magazines, more than any other class has sold.

Fresh from the magazine drive the seniors plunged into the preparation of their class play, "We Shook the Family Tree." A fish and an electric wormer presented problems for the property committee. Finally, the production was successfully presented on November 18-19.

As the year progressed to the basketball season, the team, with the help of the senior members, captured the district title.

February brought about the annual Snowball with the usual snow storm. The girls were gay in their crisp net gowns as the orchestra played lilting dance music.

In the candlelight ceremony of National Honor Society, twelve seniors experienced an exciting moment as they were tapped for membership.

At last the long awaited trip to Washington became a reality on April 20-22. The seniors found a whirlwind of activity on their trip. From the "Mint" to Mount Vernon, they covered much territory.

With the coming of Vespers and Commencement, the seniors donned caps and gowns to advance down the aisle to the strains of Verdi's "Triumphant March" provided by the band. The seniors realized that now another era of their life was over and a new one was on the horizon.

Senior Personalities

1. Sincere smiles familiar to the entire school led the Senior class to choose Amanda and Gordon as the friendliest in the class.
2. Best athletes, Shirley and Doug, pose appropriately for their title.
3. Beware when Kay or Larry looks your way; chosen the biggest flirts, they steal your heart.
4. Janice and Terry prove that it was no mistake when their classmates chose them the best looking.

... and Superlatives

1. Most popular, Ruth and Pete turn on the charm that made them known to the whole school.
2. Friendly smiles and a carefree attitude led to the choice of Mary and Vince as the most happy-go-lucky.
3. Net clothes and good grooming were recognized as the seniors choose Pat and Ed as the best dressed of all.
4. A natural pose to all who know Betty and Jim; voted the most forgetful, they always misplace something.

Projects

1. Mr. Williams and Mr. Mortenson check the drill press before class.

2. Mr. Ickes explains square root.

3. Pat adds finishing touches to her project of Peter Pan.

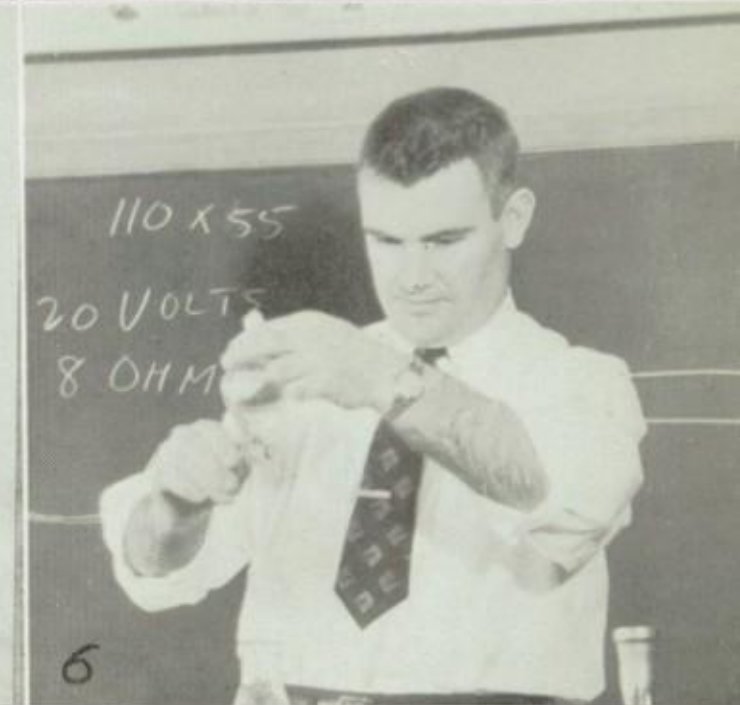

4. Robinson Crusoe is added to the mural by Darlene.

5. "Hang on, Tony."

6. Mr. Rausch demonstrates an experiment.

1. Navarre and Dave look over Freshmen Science projects.

2. Donna, Pat, and Kay demonstrate Senior English projects.

3. Pick the winner at the Aunt Jemima Cake Decorating Contest.

Looking back over the year we find that . . . Freshman and Seniors have their science and English projects to show for all that hard work . . . and cake bakers had a good time even though all could not win in the Aunt Jemima Contest.

1. Twice a week Hi-Life goes to press —the efficient staff sees to that.

2. The ninth grade English and Home Ec classes get together for a tea.

3. Miss Schmidt explains the English assignment to Darlene.

We also discover . . . The faithful Hi-Life staff provided us with a very fine paper all year . . . Freshman English students gave a very successful formal tea . . . and everyone eventually got through that "impossible" subject.

Activities

To round out their lives, the lords and ladies of feudal times organized the interest groups of their castle. So it is today in the castle of Kane High that we have a varied program of extra-curricular activities for everyone. Some wish to perform as the wandering minstrels and court jesters did; others wish to study special subjects. Thus the students seek to enrich their social lives and broaden their interests.

Officers talk over the proposed amendments.

Student Council, the center of Kane High's student government, met Tuesdays, first period in room eight this year.

For three days last summer Gordon Folke and Mike Fragale attended the summer workshop which was established to provide instruction for new student council sponsors and officers.

One of the projects which was carried over from last year, the making of a new constitution, was completed and ratified by over $\frac{3}{4}$ of the homerooms.

A new fixture around Kane High, a suggestion box, was made as result of a request from one of the homerooms.

The Student Council sponsored many dances, including the back-to-school dance, Thanksgiving dance, several dances after basketball games, and the annual Snowball formal.

In October, Gordon Folke, Lynn Larson

and Mr. Swanson went to Abington where they attended lectures and classes on student government.

The cafeteria committee of the council planned all the menus and the assembly committee booked several good professional performers for 4-Fold assemblies. The service committee had charge of the various drives, such as the Red Cross and White Christmas. At Christmas there was a collection box in the cafeteria for CARE. Enough money was given to send 96 food packages divided among West Germany, Italy, and Honduras. Many thank-you notes were received from the grateful families.

All the members of Student Council worked "to encourage cooperation in the student government of Kane High to develop the feeling of fellowship and harmony between the faculty and the students; to promote worthy school activities; and to serve in all ways, the best interests of the school."

As the five previously elected members of National Honor were explaining the four qualities necessary for membership in N.H.S. everyone anxiously awaited the tapping ceremony to see who would be tapped. The four qualities necessary in the honorary society are scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Without all four of these, one does not qualify.

This year a new system was tried for the election of the members to N.H.S. In previous years, the candidates were numbered according to the voter's idea of their ability. Every teacher received a list of the students in the upper third of the junior and senior classes this year. There were four different categories to choose from to put each candidate; they were yes, meaning you thought that person a worthy candidate, no, not good material for the N.H.S., doubtful or don't know the person.

Having a tea for the parents was the first activity of the newly elected members, although the five old members had decorated the school at Christmas.

Miss Barbara Turner, the adviser for the society, and the members had a picnic and initiation of the newly elected members which closed the functioning aspect of National Honor Society.

To begin their year, the members of the Mabel Studebaker Chapter of F.T.A. presented a panel discussion over Radio Station WADP during American Education Week. The topic was "Shall I Be a Teacher?"

During the year, the members presented a "Dr. I. Q." program for assembly. Jim Chicklo, as "Dr. I. Q." asked contestants from the audience different questions. Informal initiation was held for all the new members.

Meetings were held every other week with either speakers or business meetings as programs. Miss Rosana Eckman, Miss Gloria Schmidt, and Mrs. Ronald Jochen were among the guest speakers.

Hi-Life, the only bi-weekly school newspaper in Pennsylvania, is written, edited and produced by the interested students of Kane High with the help of Miss Rosana Eckman.

For the first semester, the write ups are supplied by the Journalism Class, who learn by experience how to write features, editorials, straight news items, headlines and, of course, how a paper is run. A trip to the Kane Republican and to radio station WADP increased interest in all features of news reporting.

A journalism conference for high school newspapers was held at Johnsonburg. Members of the staff and journalism class attended the meeting and learned many helpful suggestions for a better paper. The papers from different schools were compared and discussed.

During the second semester, the news is assigned by the editors to the students, mostly former journalism class members, who are interested in writing. Anyone who has any news may write it up himself and drop it in the Hi-Life office.

The school news was also written for the Kane Republican and the Bradford Era. The profit from this project was spent on a chicken dinner for all Hi-Life staff members at the Kane Manor.

Among the features of this year's Hi-Life were the return of Miss Tearheart, Droodles, the Menu, and holiday features.

Mimeographers, Keith Skelly and Karl Rietter, can well be proud of the neat papers each week, and the colored editions at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, which added much to the festivities.

Early in the fall Hurri-Kane staff members met to organize the book. Soon a medieval theme was chosen and officers were appointed. After officers had met with a representative from Jahn and Ollier, the engravers, a tentative dummy was laid out.

In October, staff members began the annual sponsor campaign, and as in former years, businessmen of Kane, Mt. Jewett and Ludlow responded generously to make this year's book possible.

Following through with the theme, Ed Collier planned and drew illustrations for the division pages. Jay Hatch began snapping class, club and informal pictures. Practically all the photography work in this year's book was done by Robert Carson, Camera Club adviser, and Jay.

Pictures were cut according to correct proportions, glued to mounting board, and sent to be engraved. The dummy was completed, the printer's dummy was drawn up, and the senior biographies and write ups were turned in, edited, and typed for the printer. The engravings came back, and with the copy were taken to the printer.

The completed book was then sent to Kurtz Brothers in Clearfield to be covered and bound, and returned to the staff to be handed out to the students.

To get Kane High's musical year off to a good start, out stepped the marching band in their flashy red and white uniforms. They played our favorite marches, including "Victory March" and "Hail to the Varsity" at all the home football games and two away games, St. Marys and Titusville. Marching Band practiced many formations to near perfection during second period every day the weather man would permit it.

Later the first snows drove the band indoors, where they began practicing many numbers including selections from "The King and I" and "Pavanne" by Gould. Most of these selections were prepared for the long awaited Spring Concert on April 1, an annual affair in Kane and Mt. Jewett.

The coming of spring saw Betsy Harre, Wilbur Mathys, Al Peterson, Barry Stigers, Dave Miller, Mike Miller, Bob Huckabone, Lou Starner, Ruth Peterson, and Sue Christenson going to County Band in Smethport on March 10.

Soon afterward, from April 14-16, Dave Miller, Betsy Harre, Sue Christenson, Lou Starner, Ruth Peterson, and Kate Jones journeyed to Mansfield where they participated in District Band. After district Dave Miller was chosen to represent Kane High at State Band on May 12-14.

An important group of the band was the Brass Ensemble, which played for the Christmas services at the Lutheran Church.

On May 5 the band gave a concert for the grade school pupils. Selections included on the program were "H.M.S. Pinafore", songs from "The Student Prince", and "Them Basses".

The musical year was then drawn to a close with the band playing for commencement. This year has been very successful even though Mr. Stewart was forced to take a leave of absence following his illness. This job was capably filled by Paul Larson, a recent graduate of Mansfield State Teachers College.

The rising and falling of scales by the violins and the long sustained notes of the brass could be heard on Tuesday and Thursday mornings as the orchestra tuned up before practice. The forty members of orchestra were under the direction of Mr. Charles Stewart until he became ill and then they were instructed by Mr. Paul Larson.

In the fall several members of the orchestra travelled to Mansfield State Teachers College to hear the University of Indiana's fine orchestra and chorus.

To gain practice playing in front of an audience, the orchestra played for several assemblies including National Honor Society and Thespian Club. They also performed before the Senior Play.

January found several members preparing for District Orchestra. Betsy Harre, flutist, and Donna Dwyer and Fred Johnson, violinists, represented Kane High at Lewistown. Because of his good record at District Orchestra, Fred was chosen to go to State Orchestra at Uniontown where he earned the first chair in the second violin section.

The orchestra performed several numbers for the annual spring concert on April 1. Among the selections offered was "The Clock and the Dresden Figures" which featured a piano solo by Louise Starner. "In a Monastery Garden" was supplemented by a choral group singing the chant. Also on the program were "Fair Helen of Troy Overture" and "Fugue in G Minor".

Robert Huckabone, one of Kane High's fine bass singers, travelled to Bradford for District Chorus, which was held on February 17, 18, and 19. Bob sang first bass, which entitled him to attend State Chorus, held at Minersville, Pennsylvania on March 24, 25, and 26.

Since Kane High's stage was not large enough to accommodate all of the instrumentalists who turned out for Senior Band at the onset of the year, a Junior Band for eighth and ninth grade players was formed. Pieces were chosen that were lively, interesting and within the ability of the junior players.

First period every Wednesday morning the Junior Band rehearsed under the direction of Mr. Paul Larson. There they learned to play together as a group and to follow the directions of the leader. The juniors also worked out on Thursdays along with the Orchestra and Senior Band in sectionals. The object of sectionals was to correct the mistakes which were hard to recognize in many numbers when the whole band was practicing at once. The five sections which practiced every Thursday were woodwinds, brass, percussion, strings, and Junior Band. The sectional schedule was so arranged that players never missed more than one of their major subject periods during the six weeks. In the sixth week, regular group rehearsals were scheduled, but there were no sectionals on Thursday.

The Junior Band had a long list of pieces which they practiced and played, including "Victory March," "Our Director," "Bells of St. Marys," "The Mikado," "Zanthian," "The Oracle" and many others.

Mr. Larson, who directed not only the Junior Band, but all instrumental groups, did a very able job when he was called upon to take over when Mr. Charles Stewart was forced to resign temporarily because of illness. Besides directing the band and orchestra at regular school affairs, Mr. Larson also directed the Orchestra and Senior Band in the annual Spring Concert. Both groups gave fine performances. Mr. Larson, a Kane graduate in the class of 1950, recently received his degree from Mansfield State Teacher's College.

Jr. High Girl's Chorus is newly organized this year; and is under the direction of Mrs. Mabelle Nelson. Mary Santilli is the accompanist for the group.

This organization, composed of thirty-one eighth and ninth grade girls, appeared along with the Junior and Senior mixed chorus at the Junior and Senior High Christmas Assemblies.

On May sixth, they participated in the Spring Concert. They sang the following numbers: "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty," "The Violet," "Czech-Slovakian Dance Song" and "The Swiss Walking Song."

Practicing faithfully each Monday morning, junior-high chorus started the week off musically with "Surrey with the Fringe on Top," "Stodola Pumpa," or one of their other various selections.

Directed by Mr. Benjamin Roman and accompanied by Mary Thompson, the chorus added to the Christmas assembly by singing "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

One of the highlights of the year, a long practiced for event was the spring concert in which Junior High Chorus sang, "The Happy Wanderer."

FOLK SONG

D. Miller, F. Johnson, E. Harre, C. Peterson, L. Starner, J. Larson, J. Gonda, S. Christenson, D. Bennett, R. Huckabone, E. Collier.

On Thursday mornings the auditorium rang with the refrains of the senior high chorus under the direction of Mr. Benjamin Roman. Among the various selections worked on during the year, "The Lost Chord" and "Come to the Fair" were two favorites, and "Solfeggio" provided some humor along with some good, hard work.

Providing a Christmas atmosphere for the annual Christmas assembly, the chorus did a fine job on "Lay Down Your Staffs" and "Good Christian Men Rejoice", also furnishing a colorful musical background for the tableau.

One highlight of the year was district chorus held in Bradford and attended by Jean Larson, Carole Peterson, Donna Bennett, Betsy Harre, Fred Johnson, and Bob Huckabone.

The climax came with the spring concert. A violin solo by Fred Johnson and a piano solo, "The Rustle of Spring" by the chorus accompanist, Barbara Garriss, were special selections along with various numbers by both junior and senior choruses.

As all basketball players strive to be a member of the varsity squad, so do all singers work toward the Folk Song Group. The group operates under the direction of Mr. William Bender.

This group is composed of three sopranos, three altos, two tenors and two basses. Folk Song group became very popular with the town audiences and it had many pleasant singing performances.

Every other Tuesday about forty-five dramatically talented eighth graders met in room 17 for Eighth Grade Junior Dramatics Club. The highlight of their year was a play given for assembly in May called "Alias Janetta".

The purpose of the Ninth Grade Junior Dramatics is to give its club members experience in various types of dramatics and to prepare them for Thespian Club. The club meets twice a month and each time a different committee puts on a different type program.

Meeting bi-monthly, members of Thespian club studied basic steps in putting on make-up, learning sound effects and stage lighting. Members also put on pantomimes, readings and short skits for the club. Their major event of the year was a play, "Life of the Party", directed by Robert Smith, the club adviser. Mary Ann Turnquist acted as student director. The play was presented for junior and senior high assemblies on February 17 and 18.

The usherettes, under the direction of Miss Carla Hilty, add a friendly and gay atmosphere in their colorful formal gowns as they help to seat people that attend plays, band and orchestra concerts, baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Military Leadership is a club organized for senior boys who are interested in learning the basic fundamentals of marching, close order drill, and the manual of arms with the idea that these basic skills will help them if called to serve in the armed forces.

The doors open and the lights in the halls go on before the class bell rings. Showing newcomers the right direction in which to travel and keeping them from getting lost is all a part of the job of the Hall Patrol. This group is supervised by D. G. Van Ormer.

Soon after the opening of school Mr. Miller and Mr. Gregg Turner called together all junior high boys interested in Small Arms. Next came a period of instruction for all members of the club, probably the most popular extra-curricular activity in the school for eighth and ninth grade boys. The boys soon found out that good marksmen aren't made overnight although many of them became fairly good shots after quite a bit of practice.

The boys had to first learn the parts of a rifle and the safe handling of firearms before being allowed to shoot on the range. Using dummy rifles, they quickly mastered exercises in sighting, aiming, and sling adjustments, so they were soon ready for the actual firing. The shooters then began actual practice on the range to some extent in each of the four basic shooting positions—prone, sitting, kneeling, and offhand.

As has been the custom of the club, medals were awarded to those who could shoot a 250 score out of a possible 400 points.

The purpose of Small Arms is not only to train boys for shooting on the range, but to teach safety in the handling of guns anywhere. By the end of the Small Arms School, the boys who attended it have become better and safer shooters both on the range and in the field through actually handling and discharging small arms.

Senior Play

Hildegard's desire for a date for the prom and Freddie's wish for long pants nearly caused disaster when the seniors presented "We Shook the Family Tree." Donna Bennett and Ruth Johnson alternated as Hildegard, a dramatic girl of sixteen, and John Bechakas played Freddie, who wears knickers.

The trouble all started when Hildegard participated in a debate concerning Prohibition so that the boys would notice her. Unknowingly she implicated her father as a drunk, which caused Mr. Shermer, who was his boss and also Freddie's father, some uneasy moments. Trying to prove that his family was normal, Mr. Dolson invited Mr. and Mrs. Shermer to tea. Upon arriving, the Shermers were confronted with worms and apparatus left by Bob and Jimmy, Hildegard's brothers, who had a passion for fishing.

Disaster almost struck when Freddie asked Hildegard to the prom. Her friends, Ellie-May and Jill, chided her because Freddie was the only boy in school without long pants. In order to get the pants, Freddie got an idea from little Paige Mason who had distributed the Dolsons' old love letters all over the neighborhood while playing mailman. He broke into his own home, took his parents' love letters, and stole the watch his parents intended to give him for graduation. Trading the watch for long pants, Freddie further scandalized his parents by following Paige's prank with the letters.

In the end Hildegard and Freddie were the best looking couple at the prom and the Shermers, after getting over their shock, realized that Freddie was growing up.

After many hours' work and a few mishaps, the seniors realized the thrill of completing a successful production under the guidance of Robert Smith, assisted by Shirley Kridler, student director.

In March the juniors presented SEVENTEENTH SUMMER, a three act play by Maureen Daly.

Angie, the leading character, played by Toni Henretta, was an attractive girl of seventeen. It was hard to say why that summer was different from all the rest. It wasn't entirely because Angie had her first date, and it wasn't just puppy love between Angie and Jack, played by Mike Fragale.

Everything seemed to happen that summer. Margaret, Angie's oldest sister, played by Carol Peterson, was happily engaged to Any bread, today?

Art, played by Ron Burton, and Donna Dwyer as Lorraine, the sophisticated type, had an unfortunate love affair with Martin, the man about campus, characterized by Jon Walter. All went well with Angie and Jack until Tony, the wolf of the town, gave Angie a ride home. This was not missed by Margie, Angie's best friend. A few hints and exaggerations about this to Jack, and Jane, the menace, soon had him eating out of her hand again. Margie and Jane were played by Marla Mehalko and Margie Cleland, respectively.

Fritz, Margie's steady and a man of few words, was played by John Huntzinger.

Just at an impish age of ten Angie's younger sister Kitty, Sandy Orcutt, persistently got in her father's hair by borrowing things at the most strategic moments.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow, Angie's parents, played by Kiester Connelly and Bea Meckley, sadly realized that their children were growing up and when the time came for Angie to leave, Mrs. Morrow almost wished she were sending Angie off to kindergarten instead of college.

As the curtain fell for the final time, the class of '56 added their play to their collection of pleasant memories knowing that the long hours of rehearsal under the direction of Miss Gloria Schmidt, were well worthwhile. Barb Simons was the student director.

Assembly Committee, Library Assistants

This year's assembly committee, consisting of Pete Henretta, senior, Jean Larson, junior, Lynn Larson, sophomore, and Wilbur Mathys, freshman, with Mr. Rausch and Miss Weaver as advisors, did a fine job in providing a variety of interesting and worthwhile assemblies.

Jon Walter, long-tailed coat and all, acting as master of ceremonies, added wit and humor to the talent assembly which included various musical numbers, both of voice and instrument by members of the student body.

F.T.A.'s assembly was a rather unusual one in the form of the radio program, "Dr. I. Q." with Jim Chicklo as the doctor.

The assembly of National Honor Society induction added a touch of solemnity as each eligible junior and senior breathlessly awaited the meaningful tap on the shoulder.

Probably one of the most outstanding assemblies of the year was the Phy-Chy assembly, depicting the founding of oil near Titusville by Colonel Edward L. Drake.

The thirty-eight efficient girls who made up the Library Staff contributed greatly to the smooth operation of our library. Each girl worked for one period each week, chiefly at the desk, where they charged out and received books. They also assisted other students in finding books or other materials, and gradually familiarized themselves with the general placement of everything in the library.

Phy-Chy, the club for potential chemists, nurses, doctors, etc. was advised by D. G. Van Ormer and headed this year by Peter Henretta.

The club was privileged during the year to listen to Dr. Charles E. Cleland speak on allergies. Mr. Kline Bush explained wonder drugs, showing many examples as he talked. Mrs. Bradley, lab technician at the Community Hospital, spoke on types of blood, and answered questions by members of the club. An oral report was given by Kiester Connelly on "Cellulose, the Element That Grows."

The Phy-Chy assembly committee wrote a play entitled "Drake's Well", which depicted the founding of oil near Titusville by Colonel Edward Drake.

The highlight of the year was the annual field trip to General Electric Company in Erie, attended by all the members of the club accompanied by the adviser.

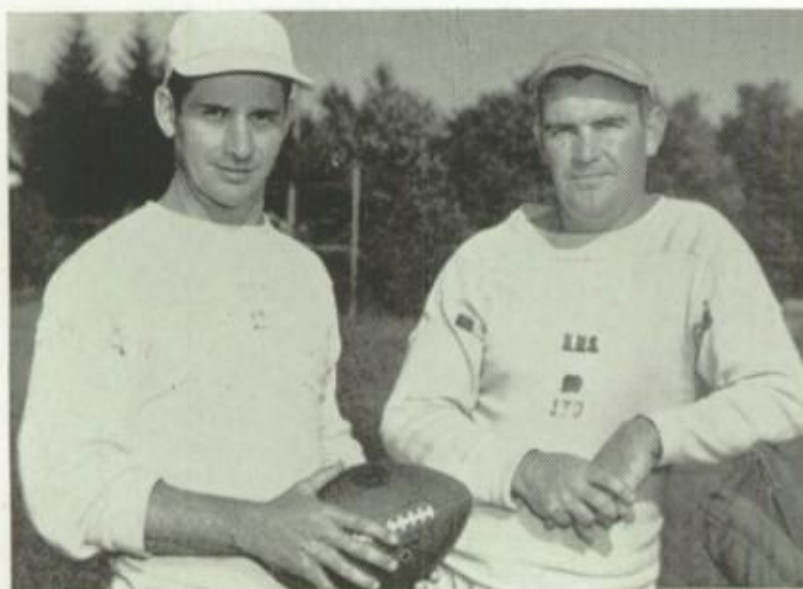

The thirty-two members of camera club this year studied the mechanism of a camera and its relationship to the type of silver image regarded as a good photograph. Discussion centred about the basic problem of photography, that of pulling a long scale subject on a short scale medium. In addition, meetings were held on developing, printing, enlarging, and filtering. Mr. Coulter, local photographer, invited the club to his studio for a demonstration on lighting and portraiture.

Sports

Duels and tournaments are no longer in style, but relics of these sports linger on. Sports provide interest for both the participants and the spectators, training in good sportsmanship, essential in our modern world of competition. Sports provide relaxation from the tenseness of a fast moving world, and recreation for children who could otherwise get into trouble.

Varsity Football

The 1954 edition of the Kane Area Joint High School football team posted a six win, two loss mark for the best record since 1940 for a Kane grid team. Head coach Bob Williams and Assistant Matt Rausch fielded a well balanced eleven whose teamwork was remarkable throughout the year.

Pete Henretta received the trophy for the most valuable back and Tom Jones got the most valuable lineman award. Terry Carlson was elected captain by the 19 lettermen at the close of the season.

As the strains of the National Anthem died out, the Wolves took the field against Ridgway in the opening game. Henretta crossed into pay dirt twice and Doug Caldwell and Carlson scored once each in the 25 to 0 victory for Kane.

St. Marys was the next victim of the Wolves, absorbing a 33 to 13 defeat with Kane and Emporium both put unblemished marks on the line the next week, with Kane coming out on the long end of the 27 to 7 count. Henretta tallied 13, Caldwell, seven, and Carlson, six.

The big game of the year was next for the undefeated Wolves, with the Johnsonburg Ramblers invading the lair. Kane had many bad breaks in this game and ended up at the short end of a 21 to 37 score. Caldwell tallied twice in the contest and Swanson once.

Kane rebounded from the Burg loss to whip a tricky Port Allegany eleven 41 to 12. Carlson crossed over the goal line three times in this game and Caldwell, Rich Goodwin and Henretta once each.

somewhat dimmed by the dismal weather, but not the Wolfpack, as it ran up a 53 to 0 score over Brookville, the highest total scored by Kane since 1934. Swanson had three TD's, Henretta and Caldwell two; and Jim Wood one.

Titusville outscored the Wolves the next week 20 to 6 in a game which showed some of the best ball playing of the year. Henretta's pass to Wood accounted for the only

Kane touchdown.

After a week's layoff, Kane moved against Franklin in another "toughie." Kane trailed by 12 going into the final quarter, but pulled it out of the fire 13 to 12. Goodwin went for the first touchdown and Caldwell added the extra point. With 28 seconds remaining in the game, Caldwell connected with Carlson on a reverse pass for the winning score.

"Go Wolves, Go!" This sound re-echoed many times in the Kane High Gym as Coach Matt Rausch turned out another championship team. The Wolves started the season as favorites to cop the newly organized District IX Class "A" Championship. However, it was a fight all the way as a surprising DuBois team upset the Wolves by one point, 60 to 59. Fighting right back, the Wolves avenged the earlier defeat, 77 to 57. They not only avenged this one defeat; they also won the championship as had been predicted. When the final buzzer had sounded, the Wolves had compiled an 18 and 2 record, with the other loss coming at the hands of Titusville during the Christmas Tournament.

The Wolves endured a three week lay off as they waited their chance to get in the PIAA playoffs. Working hard each night after school, the team was primed to meet anything that might be thrown up against them. When the big night arrived, the Wolves were pitted against a much taller South High team from Pittsburgh. The difference in height didn't seem to make too much difference as the Wolves held their own with their consistent sharp shooting. At half time the score was tied 31 all, but in the final half, the Wolves went down to defeat, 56 to 49. With this defeat another successful basketball season ends here in Kane High. Following is the team's record for the year:

The junior high basketball team, hampered in many ways, managed to rally toward the end of the season and win two games of their eleven game schedule. The smallest Wolves were seriously handicapped by a lack of height, due largely to the fact five of the best ninth graders played on the junior varsity team. Although the little wolves had only a limited time to practice, they worked hard for coach Robert H. Williams and showed both spirit and potential in their first game against a classy junior team from Warren, but lost 23-39.

The team showed steady improvement throughout the season, finally getting into the win column and avenging a former defeat by soundly beating Sheffield 39-21. The following week, the junior highs again avenged a former ten point defeat at the hands of Smethport's J.V.'s, winning this time 29-26.

At the regular practice sessions, usually held at the high school gym one or two evenings a week, the Williamsmen learned to handle the ball effectively, pass accurately and work some of the basic basketball plays. It is these skills, obtained while playing organized basketball at the junior high level, that will be of help to the boys in later years as many of them move up to the junior varsity and varsity teams. The steady improvement of playing skills was evident throughout the latter part of the smallest wolves' season and was definitely proved to the eighth grade members of the team when they scrimmaged the eighth graders of Mt. Jewett. Although much shorter in height, Kane's eighth graders' plays worked well as they drove through the less practiced Jewett five and went on to an easy win.

Following is the team's record for the season.

District Mile Relay Champs.

The enthusiastic thin clads of Kane High worked hard to get into shape to defend their District IX Title which they took from Bradford last year.

They worked out nightly under their new coach LaVerne Johnson even though the weather didn't always permit them to work out-of-doors.

The 1955 squad was about the same in number as the 1954 squad. Carrying close to 40 boys Coach Johnson looked forward to a good season with hopes that Ed Moran (ace miler) and Pete Henretta (high jumper) would be setting some new records. Moran picked up a few more trophies in races throughout New York and Canada. Kane also had all of their District IX champion relay team back this year, made up of Moran, Roth, Miller and Okerlund.

Due to condition of Kane High's track there weren't any meets scheduled here.

ROW I: F. Johnson, L. Larson, A. Nelson, Mrs. Turner, Mr. Montgomery. ROW II: M. Montgomery, D. Walter, Mr. Johnson, A. Keverline, Mr. Rausch, Mr. Williams.

Each fall, a representative is chosen from each class for the Athletic Council. The Council's duties consist of selling programs at the football games, ushering and mopping the floors at basketball games, scheduling the football and basketball games, scheduling the track meets, and providing transportation for the players to out of town games. Probably the best known duty of the Athletic Council is awarding the K's to the Varsity and Jr. Varsity players.

JUNIOR VARSITY

R. Peterson, S. Keneske, G. Van Aken, D. Marasco, B. Anderson, J. Erickson.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons, our faithful cheerleaders inspired our teams to keep plugging away. Whether winning or losing the cheerleaders didn't lose any of their vim and vigor, leading us in new and old cheers. During football season the Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders worked side by side, only to split the chores during the basketball season. Through their spirit the cheerleaders helped cheer all of Kane's teams to a successful season.

Boy's Intramurals

1. Boys are hep on intramural football.

2. Ninth grade basketball champs strike a pose.

When they called for boys to play in intramurals on Mondays and Fridays, many boys came out to participate in the following sports: touch football, basketball, volleyball, wrestling, badminton, and field activities. Touch football brought out 124 boys. The senior league champions, the 49ers, with Pete Wright as captain, won all five of their games. Other players were R. Thayer, J. Geary, H. Hunt, M. Collier, D. Weidow, W. Reigel, and E. Moran.

Freshman league co-champions were Georgia Tech, with captain R. Bush, and Michigan State, with captain Jim Johnson. Bad weather prevented playoffs. Captain Jack Rook and his Falcons, D. Mague, A. Hauser, R. Beatty, R. Harris, and J. Cuthbertson were 8th grade league champions.

In foul shooting the champs were as follows: 8th grade, Ken Forsythe; 9th grade, Mike Miller and Bob Lindquist were tied and Mike won the playoff; 10th grade, William Reigel; 11th grade, Ed Hulings; 12th grade, Tom L. Anderson.

In basketball there were 18 teams with three leagues of six teams each. The champions of the senior league were the Diggers with Captain Jack Rook and Tom L. Anderson, L. Conklin, Wm. Cuthbertson, W. Peterson, E. Moran, and J. Shaw. The Erietes with captain Seth Bloomquist and his team J. Johnson, T. Zampogna, W. Osmer, T. Fisher, and T. Carley, were champions of the Freshman league. The Kids, the 8th grade champions, had Jim Kibbie as captain and E. Erver, T. Hanson, D. Mague, D. Schuster, and J. Snyder. The season ended with the champions of each league playing an all-star team from their respective leagues. The 8th grade champions defeated the 8th grade all-stars, but in the senior and freshman leagues, the all-stars won.

Boy's Intramurals

136 boys played on 20 volleyball teams. This sport, the only one in which the faculty plays, seems to attract the most boys. This year, for the first time, the faculty was beaten by a senior team, Tom's boys. However, the faculty soon bounced back to take the next two games. The final results of this activity, plus those of wrestling, badminton, and track and field activities are not yet known.

Intramural K's were awarded each year to 12 to 15 boys determined by the number of points earned.

1. A punt is just sent off.
2. Don't swallow that birdie!
3. Boys wait their turn to hit the ball.
4. Get that ball and run!

Girl's Intramurals

Wall soccer was the beginning intramural game.

After school each Tuesday and Thursday one can see girls absorbed in playing wall soccer, basketball, volleyball, badminton, or ping pong in intramurals.

The teams are divided into two main leagues, the junior high and senior high. Because there were so many teams signed up for basketball, each class also had their own league.

Wall soccer was the first of the scheduled sports. By the time this sport was finished, all the girls' legs were pretty well battered.

Return that serve!!

In the junior league the Be-Bops emerged as champions with Real Gone Girls as runners-ups. In the senior league, Wild Kittens took first place with Magic Bunnies in second place.

Basketball was the most popular sport of all, starting with foul shooting. The champs were Marcia Johnson, 8th, Geraldine Nyström, 9th, Barb Garriss, 10th, Polly Doubles, 11th, and Pat Begeny, 12th grade. Twenty-one teams were signed up for the games. The Scooties were winners in the eighth grade league, with the Basketeers close behind. The Be-Bops and Scooperettes tied for Freshman honors. The Bouncing Babes captured the Sophomore league, with the Elegant Elephants in second place. The Blue Devils took first place and the Sharp Shooters second for the Juniors, and Seniors were tops in the senior league, followed by the Wild Kittens in second place.

Badminton and ping pong began in gym classes in the spring. This year in order to speed up the badminton elimination championship in each league each girl played with a partner.

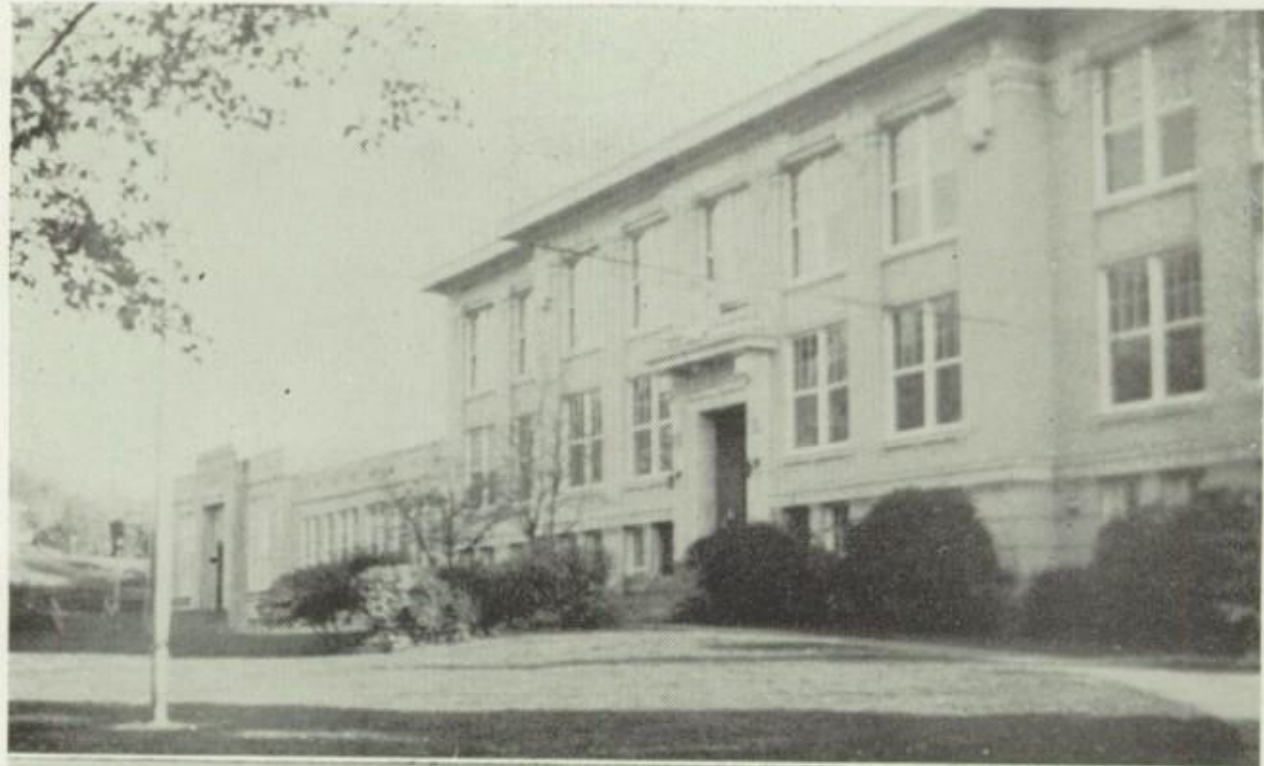

At the end of the year, every girl looks forward with anticipation to the day the intramural K's are given. The point system that is used is ten points for winning a game, seven for losing, five for substitution, three for reffing, and two for scoring. Altogether there are fifteen K's given.

Shirley Kridler is the manager this year. Unlike the previous years, there is no junior manager.

Come on! Get it over.
